The Mississ Spaces.

The official statement concerning the captured and abandoned property in the robel States, shows that the nett receipts of the Government, from all such sources, has been nearly twenty-five million dollars. This amount is supposed to represent all the cotton and other property that was left by fleeting robels, or which was captured during the progress of the rebellion. Now if the Government gets twenty-five millions in this way, it would be interesting to knew how much the Provost Marshals and military officers generally realized in the same way. What proportion of the captured and bandoned property was converted to the concess appropriated such property almost without an attempt at concealment, and it

The principle of arbitration being once admitted, it makes little difference which of these alternatives is chosen. If the intervention of a European Sovereign would be unpalatable to the United States, it would be a sufficient reason for preferring the second, and it was in prospect of this contingency that we ventured to recommend the revision of the neutrality laws by the same body which is charged to adjudicate on the Alabama claims. At all events, it is to be hoped that a joint commission, if appointed, will comprise laymen of eminence as well as lawyers.

ware and the Puke of Edinburgh, who I were advancing to meet her, she came forward and kissed them both. Anything more simple, natural and affectionate than this greeting between the mother and her children cannot well be imagined. The Queen then presented her hand to the Duke of Cambridge and to Prince Teck, each of whom kissed it respectfully, and then again whom kissed it respectfully, and then again turning to the House she bowed, and left with the same State ceremonial as she had entered, followed by her som. In a few minutes the whole of the brilliant assemblage had broken up, and thus commenced the Second Session of the Seventh Parliament of Queen Victoria.

But "Mamma's little pet got into a very bad scrape the other day, whereby he got badly pickled. Having made his way to the pantry and observing a large jar of pickles, the little fellow thought he would have at least what big folks call a square meal, so in went the head in the jar of pickles, but out the head couldn't get, and as a consequence, the couldn't get, and as a consequence, the "darlin" set up a very lively and interesting noise, which attracted the frightened mother, who found the young hopeful just in the fix described. Amidst screams and cries the jar had to be broken before the baby's head could be extricated, which having hopeful one. ing been done, "little pickle," as he is now called, cast sly looks at his Ma, and then at the pickles exclaiming, "O. Man never dowin to det pickled aden!"
